

Referral List of Contractors with Child Care Facilities Development Experience in California

This document, Referral List of Contractors with Child Care Facilities Development Experience in California ©June 2003, was prepared by the Building Child Care (BCC) Project, a collaboration of organizations working together to provide a centralized clearinghouse of information and services designed to improve child care providers' access to financial resources for facilities development projects in California.

For more information about this document or about the BCC Project, please call (888) 411-3535 or visit the project website at www.buildingchildcare.org.

DISCLAIMER:

The Referral List of Contractors is provided to assist child care providers in facilities development and should not be used on its own in selecting a contractor. Building Child Care does not endorse or claim to have personal knowledge of any of the contractors listed. The Referral List of Contractors is a work in progress and is not intended to be a complete list of contractors with child care experience. The information provided in the Referral List of Contractors was supplied by the contractors listed.

I. ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This document, The Referral List of Contractors with Child Care Facilities Development Experience in California ©2003, is a publication by the Building Child Care (BCC) Project, a statewide collaborative funded through the California Department of Education, Child Development Division. The research and development of this document was conducted by Prudence Beidler, a Program Specialist at the National Economic Development and Law Center (NEDLC) and Coordinator of the BCC Project, and by Mark Meyer, an NEDLC Intern in 2003. Mark Meyer was the primary author of this publication.

The development of this document would not have been possible without the valuable assistance of the collaborative partners on the BCC Project: Jen Wohl of the National Economic Development and Law Center, Shelley Waters Boots and Fran Kipnis of the California Child Care Resource and Referral Network, Claudia Siegman and Renu Nanda of the Child Care Facilities Fund of the Low Income Investment Fund, and Gary Kinley of the Child Development Policy Institute Education Fund.

Input from the following sources was key in helping us compile this information: BCC Advisory Committee members, Local Investment in Child Care (LINCC) Project staff, and Diane Philibosian and Gretchen Anderson of the Design Institute.

The development of this document was also dependent on the critical support of NEDLC staff members who helped in the process of preparing and distributing referral surveys.

Most importantly, we are indebted to the child care providers across the state who sent in referrals of contractors with whom they have worked in the past several years. We would also like to thank the contractors themselves who took the time to give us information about their experience with child care facility projects.

Because this document will be updated regularly, we encourage you to contact us with additional referrals. Furthermore, if you are a contractor listed in this resource, please feel free to contact us with any edits you'd like to make to your listing.

If you have questions or comments about this document please email bcc@nedlc.org, or call the Building Child Care Project at the National Economic Development and Law Center, (888) 411-3535 or (510) 251-2600.

II. INTRODUCTION

This list is presented as a resource to assist child care providers in the process of finding an experienced contractor interested in working on child care facilities.

The listed contractors were referred to Building Child Care (BCC) by a survey distributed to newly licensed Child Care Centers and Large Family Child Care Homes, and through BCC contacts in the child care field.

BCC does not endorse, or claim to have personal knowledge, of any of the contractors listed. The information presented is that given to BCC by the contractors listed.

In projects where an architect is needed, contractors build to the specifications of the architect. Selecting an architect skilled in child care facilities can improve the functioning and child safety of a facility. To help providers find architects with experience in child care facilities development BCC has published a “Referral List of Architects with Child Care Facilities Development Experience in California” available on line at www.buildingchildcare.org, or by phone at (888) 411-3535.

Currently there are approximately 278,000 licensed contractors in the state. This referral list is very small in comparison. Most of the contractors in this list have experience developing Child Care Centers rather than Family Child Care Homes.

In addition to using this referral list, the following suggestions are good methods for finding a qualified contractor:

Suggestions for Finding a Contractor for Child Care Center Facilities Projects:

- Ask other child care centers for recommendations.
- Ask local community development corporations (CDCs) for referrals of contractors they have worked with successfully on facilities projects.
- Ask funders for referrals.

Suggestions for Finding a Contractor for Family Child Care Home Renovation and Expansion Projects:

- Ask other providers for recommendations of contractors with child care facility development experience.
- Ask neighbors and friends in the community for recommendations of any good contractors for home improvement work.
- Look in the phone book (though always be sure to check a contractor’s license before making any financial commitments to him/her).
- Ask funders for referrals.

Always make sure to check a contractor’s license, references, qualifications and insurance before making any financial commitments.

III. THINGS TO CONSIDER IN DEALING WITH A CONTRACTOR: DO'S AND DON'TS

Excerpt from: What You Should Know Before You Hire a Contractor by The California Contractors State Licensing Board. The full document can be found at <http://www.cslb.ca.gov/consumers>, or call the 24-Hour Licensing & Consumer Information phone-line: 1-800-321-CSLB (2752).

- Do:
- Plan your project carefully.
 - Shop around before hiring a contractor.
 - Get at least three written bids on your project.
 - When requesting bids, provide all contractors with accurate plans or drawings that will enable them to determine the scope and cost of work.
 - Check with the Contractors State License Board to make sure the contractor is properly licensed, and to check the status and disciplinary history of the license.
 - Check out contractors with your local building department, trade associations or unions, consumer protection agency, and the Better Business Bureau.
 - Look at work the contractor has completed.
 - Ask your contractor to furnish a completion or contract bond.
 - Consult with more than one lending institution regarding the type of loan to obtain.
 - Ask your lender to recommend a funding-control company.
 - Make sure your contract provides for a "retention," a percentage of each payment or of the total job, ordinarily 10 percent, which you retain until the job is completed.
 - Make sure everything you and your contractor have agreed to is included in your contract, and don't sign anything until you understand and agree with all terms.
 - Ask your contractor about inconveniences that may occur, and plan accordingly.
 - Keep a job file.
 - Make sure you receive unconditional lien releases from subcontractors and material suppliers.
 - Make frequent inspections of the work, including a final walk-through.
 - Consult an attorney if a mechanics' lien is filed against your property.
 - If problems or disagreements occur, try first to negotiate with the contractor.

- Do Not:
- Do not hire an unlicensed contractor.
 - Do not hire a contractor without first shopping around.
 - Do not act as an owner/builder, unless you are very experienced in construction.
 - Do not sign anything until you completely understand it and agree to the terms.
 - Do not make agreements with subcontractors or workers without consulting the prime contractor.
 - Do not pay cash without a proper receipt.
 - Do not make a down payment that exceeds the legal limit (10% or $1,000, or 2% or $200 for swimming pools, whichever is less).
 - Do not let your payments get ahead of the contractor's completed work.
 - Do not hesitate to ask questions of the contractor.
 - Do not make final payment until you are satisfied with the job.

Be Sure Your Contract Includes:

- The contractor's name, address, and license number and the name and registration number of any salesperson who solicited or negotiated the contract.
- The approximate dates (not number of working days) when the work will begin and be substantially completed.
- A description of the work to be done, a description of the materials and equipment to be used or installed, and the price for the work.
- A schedule of payments showing the amount of each payment in dollars and cents.
- If the payment schedule contained in the contract provides for a down payment, it shall not exceed $1,000 or 10 percent of the contract price (excluding finance charges), whichever is less (swimming pools: two percent or $200, whichever is less). If the contract provides for the contractor to furnish performance and payment bonds, lien and completion bonds, a bond equivalent, or funding control, this limitation of down payment does not apply.
- A Notice to Owner regarding the state's lien laws, and the rights and responsibilities of an owner of property.
- A description of what constitutes substantial commencement of work.
- A notice that the failure of the contractor, without lawful excuse, to substantially commence work within 20 days from the approximate date specified in the contract when work is to begin, is a violation of the Contractors License Law.
